

[INFORMATION APPLIANCE CONTROL SYSTEM]

Abstract of Disclosure

An information appliance control system includes a console and a plurality of information appliances. The console includes a transmitter for wirelessly transmitting control signals for the plurality of information appliances. Each information appliance includes a receiver for receiving the control signals transmitted by the console to control operation of the information appliance.

Figures